The Most Reverend Monsignor David Maria Jaeger, O.F.M., J.C.D., is a Prelate Auditor of the Roman Rota, the Papal law court that serves as the chief appellate court of the Catholic Church. Msgr. Jaeger has specialized in Church-State relations, both in general and in Israel specifically, and has thus been prominently involved in improving Catholic-Jewish relations around the world. He was appointed by Pope John Paul II as the Legal Advisor to the delegation that negotiated the Holy See’s Fundamental Agreement with the State of Israel in 1993, enabling the historic establishment of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and Israel the following year. Msgr. Jaeger served for twenty years as the Holy See’s Legal Adviser in the negotiations with the State of Israel until his elevation to the Court in the spring of 2011. He has been committed for many years to favoring progress towards inter-religious peace in the land, for Christians, Jews and Muslims.
