Approved Description of the Major

Journalism

This department offers professional preparation for students who are planning careers in journalism. It also offers other students the chance to improve their writing, interviewing and research skills and to learn about the news media. Students in writing courses are expected to produce work of professional quality and to publish that work when possible. Students who major in journalism should also take related courses in history, economics, political science and other liberal arts disciplines as a sound preparation for news reporting. The department strongly urges students to complete a second major. Students also should gain professional experience before graduation, either through part-time jobs, the Co-operative Education Program or the department’s internship program. Internships are available at newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines, online publications and political press offices. In addition to satisfying the requirements of the College, majors must complete 24 credits in journalism at the 2000-level or above, including Jour 2000W, 2001, 3002, 3020 and 3030. Jour 1002 is a prerequisite for Jour 3002.

A journalism education is, by definition, an education in writing and information literacy. A journalism major will fulfill the writing in the major requirement and the information literacy competency by completing the department’s core courses (Jour 2000W, 2001W, 3002, 3020 and 3030).

Students will fulfill the computer technology competency by (a) meeting the university’s expectations in computer operation basics, word processing, presentation software, spreadsheets, database basics, graphics and multimedia, Internet basics and electronic communication and (b) completing Jour 3030.

Journalism majors are advised to consult with their advisors about additional computer skills that may be helpful to them, based on individual career plans.

Students must apply to the Journalism Department to become majors. They must do so by the end of the third full week of classes in the fall or spring semester. A student who is not accepted initially may reapply in subsequent semesters. Forms can be obtained online or in the Journalism Department Student Resource Room, 457 Oak Hall.

Students must meet the following two requirements:

1) Successful completion of at least 39 credits (Students who are members in good standing of the University Honors Program may apply after completing 23 credits at UConn.)
2) Cumulative GPA of at least 2.8 – or – successful performance on a timed writing exercise administered by the department. Applicants taking the test must show mastery of the fundamental tools of writing, including spelling, grammar and syntax. The applicant’s academic record and goals also will be considered.

New Business

Internship policy

As part of the discussion concerning internships, dockets 2012-093 and 2012-094, it was proposed that the CLAS internship policy should be revisited. The present policy appears to date from February 9, 1999. A motion was proposed to form a subcommittee to explore whether or not changes need to be made to the present policy.

Motion: to form a subcommittee in the Spring 2013 to review the CLAS Internship policy: seconded and carried unanimously.

Adjournment

Motion for adjournment until Oct 30th, 3:30 PM was approved unanimously.

Minutes respectfully submitted by Ralf Schiffler, Secretary pro tem.
