15. Skill Codes "W", "Q", or "C" (see Note T): none
16. S/U grading (see Note W):

Justification
1. Reasons for adding this course: (see Note L)

To the instructor’s knowledge, no course on Polish culture or film exists at Uconn other than the PLSH 3295 course which has been offered by the instructor. (Please note that this course should have been scheduled as 3298, an error which has been rectified going forward.) The content of the PLSH 3295 course is very similar to that of the one that is being proposed now, but the lectures of PLSH 3295 are in Polish. Because PLSH 3295 is a special topics course, students who want to enroll need to have passed the Polish language courses prior taking that class, so the admission to that course is very limited. There is a growing interest on Polish culture on the part of heritage and other students. Those students have been taking such courses on an Independent basis and the department would like to formalize them.
2. Academic Merit (see Note L):

HISTORY
This course will familiarize students with important historical events in Europe that influenced the creation of contemporary Poland, such as World War II, the Warsaw Uprising, communism and its fall, and admittance into the European Union. The movies introduce present-day Poland with its cultural and ethnic diversity. Some of the films are based on famous pieces of Polish literature. Students will also become familiar with socio-political and cultural aspects of contemporary Poland: economical changes as a result of the beginning of capitalism after 45 years of communism, Jewish culture, the role of Polish women, and the everyday life of Polish people from various social classes.

TECHNICAL
The course will challenge students' preconceptions of international film, and other cultural values. The course will also stimulate students to develop their critical vocabulary for the analysis of the screening, editing, mise-en-scene, acting, and so on.

MORAL DILEMMAS
The course will support the University’s focus on actively engaging students in critical thinking. Many of the movies focus on moral aspects of people’s behaviour, the value of life, and the distinction between good and evil. Through the guided questions that will be posted prior the class, students will have to try to find the answer to some moral dilemmas.

GENERAL SUMMARY
The course will provide students with knowledge of a world beyond their own, as they familiarize themselves with Polish history, traditions, problems, and everyday life through one of a nation’s primary modes of expression, film. Students will become familiar with the best Polish film directors and actors, important facts from Polish history, and some aspects of present-day Poland. They will be encouraged to compare and contrast Polish society with their own, expanding their conversation with the rest of the world.

3. Overlapping Courses (see Note M): none
4. Number of Students Expected: 50
5. Number and Size of Section: 1/50
6. Effects on Other Departments (see Note N): none
7. Effects on Regional Campuses: none

Poland through Film

Course description
This course will familiarize students with some important historical events in Europe that influenced the creation of contemporary Poland, such as World War II, the Warsaw Uprising, communism and its fall, and admittance into the European Union. The movies introduce present-day Poland with its cultural and ethnic diversity. Students will also become familiar with many socio-political and cultural aspects of contemporary Poland: economical changes as a result of the beginning of the capitalism after 45 years of communism, the role of Polish women; the everyday life of Polish people from different social classes (intellectuals, students, politicians, businessmen, farmers, etc.), and the coexistence of people of different religions, and cultures. Many movies focus on moral aspects of people's behaviour, the sense of life, and the distinction between good, and evil.
A variety of film genres will be considered: psychological drama, comedy, science-fiction, thriller, and so on. Two films (Debt and Back and Forward) are based on real stories, while Decalogue is the world's first attempt at filming the Ten Commandments. In addition, the films are directed by the most well-known Polish directors (A. Wajda, A. Holland, K. Zanussi, M. Piekorz, K. Kiešiūnas, S. Bareja), and star some of Poland's most famous contemporary actors (M. Żebrowski, M. Koźuchowska, J. Stuhr, J. Gajos, K. Janda, D. Stenka, Z. Zapasiewicz). Many of these films, actors, and directors have received numerous awards, including Katyń, which was nominated for an Oscar in 2007 as “Best Foreign Language Film”.

Goals
The courses will provide students with knowledge of a world beyond their own, as they familiarize themselves with Polish history, traditions, problems, and everyday life through one of a nation's primary modes of expression, film. Some films presented in the course focus exclusively on very difficult moral situations that people can face at any time during their life. Students will need to assess them, and the discussions will make them to think what they’d do in similar situations. Students will become familiar with the best Polish film directors and actors, important facts from Polish history, and some aspects of present-day Poland. They will be encouraged to compare and contrast Polish society with their own.

Each class will be organized around one or two movies. A short introduction to the historical context of the film, its director, and its actors will be given before the film showing. After the film, students will participate in discussions designed to stimulate them to articulate their thoughts, express their opinions and ideas, develop their critical thinking, and give reasonable arguments. The course will also stimulate students to develop their critical vocabulary for the analysis of the screening, editing, mise-en-scene, acting and so on.

Course requirements and grading
Active participation in classes (20%)
Written paper, 2-3 pages (30%)
Final exam (50%)

The paper can be written in English or in Polish. Its topic will be given by the instructor during the course or can be proposed by the student. Due date for the paper is……

Final exam will be in the form of several multiple choice questions or short essay questions, identifications, and definitions.

II. NEW DEPARTMENTAL PROPOSALS

2009 –  106 (Placeholder; needs revision ) Proposal to Add PRLS 3271W as a W variant of PRLS 3271 [& cross-list?]

1. Date: November 18, 2009
2. Department requesting this course: Institute of Puerto Rican and Latino Studies
3. Semester and year in which course will be first offered: Spring 2010

Final catalog Listing
PRLS 3271W. Immigration and Transborder Politics (also POLS 2998W Note: POLS 2998 is an existing variable topics course, hence inappropriate for cross-listing)
Either semester. Three credits. Prerequisite: Open to Juniors or higher.
Examines globalization, movement of people, challenges posed to U.S. policy-making and society. Looks at past/present U.S. immigration policies, public opinion, influence of ethnic groups in shaping U.S. foreign policy. [Note: this description must conform to that of existing PRLS 3271.]

Items included in catalog Listing:

Obligatory Items
1. Standard abbreviation for Department or Program (see Note O): PRLS
PRLS 3271W/POLS 2998W: Immigration and Transborder Politics

2. Course Number (see Note B): 2XXX-W
If requesting a specific number (e.g. “254” instead of “2XX”), have you verified with the Registrar that this number is available for use? __ Yes __ No

3. Course Title: Immigration and Transborder Politics
4. Semester offered (see Note C): Either
5. Number of Credits (see Note D): 3
6. Course description (second paragraph of catalog entry -- see Note K):
"Examines globalization, movement of people, challenges posed to U.S. policy-making and society. Looks at past/present U.S. immigration policies, public opinion, influence of ethnic groups in shaping U.S. foreign policy."

Optional Items

7. Number of Class Periods, if not standard (see Note E): standard
8. Prerequisites, if applicable (see Note F): n/a
9. Recommended Preparation, if applicable (see Note G): n/a
10. Consent of Instructor, if applicable (see Note T): n/a
11. Exclusions, if applicable (see Note H): n/a
12. Repetition for credit, if applicable (see Note I): n/a
13. Instructor(s) names if they will appear in catalog copy (see Note J): n/a
14. Open to Sophomores (see Note U): n/a
15. Skill Codes "W", "Q", or "C" (see Note T): W
16. S/U grading (see Note W): n/a

Justification
1. Reasons for adding this course: (see Note L). This course will count as a cross-listed version of the POLS 2998W course currently being taught under the title of Immigration and Transborder Politics. The PRLS section of the course will enable students to earn a W skill credit if they enroll through PRLS. The PRLS 3271 that appears in the catalog currently (2009-2010) is not a W. We will now offer a valuable W as well.
2. Academic Merit (see Note L): The course expands the offering of W courses available to both the Department of Political Science and the Institute of Puerto Rican and Latino Studies.
3. Overlapping Courses (see Note M): POLS 2XXX-W
4. Number of Students Expected: 9 in the PRLS section
5. Number and Size of Section: each (cross-listed) section will comprise of 9 or 10 students. In accordance with the rules of W course enrollments, enrollments cannot exceed 19 total for the whole class.
6. Effects on Other Departments (see Note N): The course expands the offerings of W courses available to both the Department of Political Science, the Institute of Puerto Rican and Latino Studies and the university.
7. Effects on Regional Campuses: N/A
8. Staffing (see Note P): Dr. Charles R. Venator-Santiago

9. Dates approved by (see Note Q):

Proposal to Change the Human Rights Minor

1. Date: November 19, 2009
2. Department requesting this change: Human Rights (HRTS)
3. Title of Minor: Human Rights
4. Nature of Change:
   a. Move SOC/HRTS 3831 from Group B to Group A Core Course list
   b. Drop SOC 3701 and POLS 3255 from the Group B listings
   c. Change HRTS 3295 Special Topics to HRTS 3295 Variable Topics
   d. Add English 3629, Holocaust Literature in English to Group B offerings
   e. Add English/HRTS 3631, Literature, Culture, and Humanitarianism to Group B offerings

5. Existing catalog Description of the Minor:
   This minor provides interdisciplinary instruction in theoretical, comparative, and historical perspectives on human rights through classroom courses, and valuable practical experience in the human rights field through a supervised internship. Fifteen credits at the 2000-level or above are required. Six credits from Group A, Core Courses, six credits from Group A or B, Electives; and three credits from Group C, Internship. More than six credits may not be taken in one department. A student may petition the Director of the Human Rights Minor to allow a course not on the following list to count as an Elective (Group B).
   - Group A. Core Courses.
     HRTS/POLS 3042; POLS/HRTS 3212; HIST/HRTS 3201, 3202
   - Group B. Electives.

   - Group C. Internship: HRTS 3245

The minor is offered by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. For more information, contact Richard Hiskes in the Political Science department.

7. Effective Date (semester, year -- see Note R): IMMEDIATELY

Justification
a. This course has been in the Group B category on a trial run. It has proven to be a popular and needed addition to the Minor offerings, and a topic central and fundamental enough to warrant inclusion in core course category. The move will have no impact on students except to make the course more readily available, and no impact on regional campuses.

b. The instructors for these courses have been retired for several years and the courses are no longer being taught. Department heads from both departments have approved this move to drop them from the minor. The move will have no impact on students or regional campuses.

c. When HRTS added 3295 to its offerings 2 years ago it mistakenly titled the course "Special Topics" rather than "Variable Topics." The latter is a needed change since the flexibility is needed for courses taught by visiting Gladstein professors, who are brought to campus individually on an annual basis for one semester. The move will have no impact on students or regional campuses.

d. and e. These two courses have been approved recently by the CLAS C&C Committee. In both cases (obviously for the cross listed 3631 course) the courses were designed in conjunction with HRTS for inclusion in the Minor offerings. Both courses are welcome additions that will give Minors more choices in how to complete the minor. No impact on regional campuses.

1. Why is a change required?
2. What is the impact on students?
3. What is the impact on regional campuses?
4. Attach a revised "Minor Plan of Study" form to this proposal See Below

Group C – Internship (3 credits):
HRTS: 3245

NOTE: Completion of a minor requires that a student earn a C (2.0) or better in each of the required courses for that minor. A maximum of 3 credits towards the minor may be transfer credits of courses equivalent to University of Connecticut courses. Substitutions are not possible for required courses in a minor.

Consult your advisor while completing this plan. An approved final plan of study must be filed with the registrar during the first four weeks of classes of the semester in which a student expects to graduate.

Revised: 11/09
2009 – 108 Proposal to Change the Communication Major

1. Date: November 30, 2009
2. Department requesting this change: Communication, Dept. of Communication Sciences
3. Title of Major Communication
4. Nature of Change: Adding a new designation to accommodate students who wish to become a Communication major in their junior year.

5. Existing catalog Description of the Major:

Communication. The undergraduate concentration in Communication is designed to produce students capable of analyzing human communication behavior from a scientific standpoint. It concentrates on the empirical investigation of human communication, stressing developments in communication theory and research. The concentration emphasizes interpersonal, mass, new communication technologies, nonverbal, organizational and intercultural and international communication. Students who elect to take the Communication concentration must pass:

- COMM 1000, 1100, 3000Q

In addition, students must pass at least two (2) of the following Core courses:

- COMM 3100, 3200, 3300

Students must pass at least five (5) more 2000-level or above courses in Communication. No more than two of the five can be applied courses: COMM 4800, 4820, 4940, 4991, and 4992. Three of the five must be theory courses, which are all other COMM courses numbered 2000 or above. As long as students have met the above requirements, they may also pass additional applied courses. We strongly recommend that everyone take at least one internship (COMM 4991).

To satisfy the information literacy competency, all students must pass COMM 1000, 1100, and 3000Q. Other courses that will further enhance competency in information literacy include COMM 1300, 3100, 3103, 3200, 3300, 3321, 3400, 3450, 3600, 4089, 4100, 4120, 4220W, 4230, 4320, 4330, 4410W, 4420, 4450W, 4451W, 4460, 4500, 4551W, and 4620. To satisfy the writing in the major requirement, students must pass at least one course from COMM 2310W, 4220W, 4410W, 4450W, 4451W, 4551W, 4930W, 4996W, or any 2000-level or above W course approved for this major. For students interested in media and public relations careers, journalism courses are recommended for additional writing competency.

Students must apply to the department to become a Communication Sciences major with a concentration in Communication. The deadline for applications during a semester is the end of the second week of classes. Applications are accepted for Fall and Spring semesters. Students must apply Spring semester of their Sophomore year. Forms can be obtained outside Room 212 PCSB, on the department website, and from Communication faculty members at the Stamford Regional Campus.

The decision to admit will depend on several criteria:
- Successful completion of at least 54 credits, or successful completion of 40 credits plus current enrollment that should result in at least 54 credits by the end of the current semester.
- Cumulative GPA, and
- Successful completion of COMM 1000.

The applicant’s academic record and space availability will also be considered.

We recommend that students interested in the Communication concentration complete COMM 1100 and COMM 1300 before junior year, if possible. COMM 1300 is a prerequisite for many 2000-level or above media courses, and is advised for all students interested in media production, communication technology, marketing, public relations, or advertising.

A minor in Communication is described in the “Minors” section.

4451W, 4460, 4500, 4551W, and 4620. To satisfy the writing in the major requirement, students must pass at least one course from COMM 2310W, 4220W, 4410W, 4450W, 4451W, 4551W, 4930W, 4996W, or any 2000-level or above W course approved for this major. For students interested in media and public relations careers, journalism courses are recommended for additional writing competency.

Students must apply to the department to become a Communication Sciences major with a concentration in Communication. The deadline for applications during a semester is the end of the second week of classes. Applications are accepted for Fall and Spring semesters. Students typically apply Spring semester of their Sophomore year. Forms can be obtained outside Room 223 PCSB, on the department website, and from Communication faculty members at the Stamford Regional Campus.

The decision to admit will depend on several criteria:
• Successful completion of at least 54 credits, or successful completion of 40 credits plus current enrollment that should result in at least 54 credits by the end of the current semester.
• Cumulative GPA, and
• Successful completion of COMM 1000.
The applicant’s academic record and space availability will also be considered.

We recommend that students interested in the Communication concentration complete COMM 1100 and COMM 1300 before junior year, if possible. COMM 1300 is a prerequisite for many 2000-level or above media courses, and is advised for all students interested in media production, communication technology, marketing, public relations, or advertising.

Prior to acceptance into the Communication Sciences major, students may designate themselves as Pre-Communication by notifying their advisor. The PRECOM designation, however, will only indicate an intention to apply and will not insure acceptance into the concentration. PRECOM majors must still apply to become Communication Sciences majors with a Communication concentration at the appropriate time. PRECOM majors are given priority in registering for 1000-level Communication courses.

A minor in Communication is described in the “Minors” section.

7. Effective Date Fall Semester, 2010

Justification
1. Why is a change required?
The Communication Program is severely understaffed; it has 10 full-time faculty in Storrs who serve an average of 400 undergraduate majors, an MA program and a PhD program. As a result, the incoming freshmen are not allowed to choose Communication as their major. To be considered for admission to become a Communication Major, student with a junior standing (during the semester of application) must submit a formal application, meet the course credit and prerequisite requirements, and a GPA standard.

The Pre-Communication Major was created to accommodate the large number of students who wish to receive relevant curricular advising and preference in registering for 1000-level Communication courses, prior to their application to become a Communication Major. This Pre-Communication Major designation was removed for AY2008-2009, owing to the elimination of the Pre-Communication Advisor position. CLAS has since restored the Pre-Communication Advisor position to address this problem. The Communication program currently has nearly 200 Pre-Communication Majors (some of them are freshmen).

With the restoration of the Pre-Communication Advisor, it was decided that the Pre-Communication Major designation will also be reinstated to accommodate student needs from the time of admission. The Catalog Description provided above is the same as the description that was removed from the AY2008-2009 Undergraduate Catalog.

2. What is the impact on students? The impact on the students has been described above.

3. What is the impact on regional campuses? The impact on the main campus and the regional campuses will be the same.

F. Additional courses (6 credits). In addition to courses used to satisfy requirements A-E above, six credits must be chosen from English courses numbered 2000 or above. Course numbers used to satisfy requirements A-E may be used toward satisfaction of requirement F only when they designate a second or third section of a course repeated for credit with a change of topic.

Distribution Requirements:

1) At least two courses must concern literature written before 1800. Courses satisfying this requirement are 2100, 3111, 3113, 3115, 3301, 3495, 3501, 3503, 3505, 3507,3805/W, 3807/W, 4695/W.

2) At least one course must concern ethnic or postcolonial literatures in English. Courses satisfying this requirement are 2301, 3120, 3122, 3210, 3212, 3214, 3216/W, 3218, 3318, 3605, 3607, 4203/W, 4301/W, 4302/W

3) No more than three credits from the following courses may count toward the English major: 3003/W, 3003/WC, 3011/C, 3011/W, 3091, 3692, 3701, 3703, 3705, 3707, 3709.

Concentration in Irish Literature. English majors may choose to pursue a concentration in Irish Literature. Within the requirements for all English majors, these students will select four courses in Irish literature approved by their advisors in Irish literature and by the Irish Literature Coordinator.

Study Abroad in London: The Department of English sponsors programs in London occurring on an as-offered basis. These include the UConn Summer in London program and ENGL 3193, a spring course that includes a trip to London during the winter break.

A minor in English is described in the Minors section.

7. Effective Date immediately

Justification
1. Why is a change required? The individual changes are explained as follows:
Section B2: Delete 3177/W (Course split into 3117/W and 3118/W); add 3117/W, 3118/W.
Section B3: Add 3320 and 3629 (new courses added in 2008 and 2009 that belong with other ethnic/multicultural courses).
Section C1: Add 3631 (new course); delete 3406 and add 2408 (3406 became 2408); delete 3409 and add 2409 (3409 became 2409); add 2411 (new course).
Section C2: Add 3711 (new course); add 3010W (recently permitted to count toward major).
Distribution requirement 2: Add 3320 and 3629 (see note for Section B3 above).
Distribution requirement 3: Add 3711 (new course belongs here with other creative writing courses); add 3010W (recently permitted to count toward major); delete 3003WC and 3011C (inactive courses).

2. What is the impact on students? Expand range of choices for fulfilling major.
3. What is the impact on regional campuses? Same. No added resources needed.
4. Dates approved by (see Note Q):

2009 – 110 Proposal to Cross-List HIST 3560 with WS 3XXX [comment required]

For reference, from the Minutes of the 27 October 2009 meeting (Chair’s report):
c. Correction to Minutes of 30 Sept 2008, 2008-100, WS 3XXX (Further to request): Upon examination of the discussion record for the meeting of 30 September 2008, it is clear that the relevant minutes as subsequently reported (and subsequently approved) were incorrect. The Committee had approved a non-W variant of this course as well. Clarifying language introduced at the meeting was imperfectly recorded. The previous minutes for 30 September 2008:

2008 – 100 Proposal to Add WS 2XXXW
Approved. Final catalog Listing:
WS 3XXXW. Gender Representations in U.S. Popular Culture
Either semester. Three credits. Prerequisite: ENGL 1010, 1011, or 3800.
Forces in the U.S. that shape and reshape gender in popular culture.

Now corrected to read:

Justification
1. Reasons for adding this course: New material and course focus reflecting the teaching fields of new faculty person. (see Note L)

2. Academic Merit (see Note L): After laying historical and theoretical foundations, we will consider a series of case studies that reveal how these categories are produced and contested over time while paying particular attention to political, social, economic, and cultural mechanisms of power, oppression, and resistance. We will analyze a variety of texts and primary sources, including legal and governmental documents, memoir, documentary and feature film, literature, material culture, visual cultures, and historical and theoretical works. While other departments in CLAS offer courses that explore one or more of these categories broadly, this class is necessary within the History Department and the College for its methodological and disciplinary specificity. Historians analyze, discuss, and write about these subjects and their intersections in particular ways. A fundamental goal of this course is for students to understand that conceptions of race, gender, and sexuality have histories, are historically constituted and change over time and in different contexts; and then to put this into methodological and analytical practice.

3. Overlapping Courses (see Note M): None. However, this course is not open for credit to students who have passed History 3995: Special Topics: Constructions of Race, Gender, and Sexuality in U.S. History.
4. Number of Students Expected: 40
5. Number and Size of Section: 1
6. Effects on Other Departments (see Note N): This course will be cross-listed with Women's Studies. Manisha Desai, Director of the Women's Studies Program, fully supports this plan.
7. Effects on Regional Campuses: n/a
8. Staffing (see Note P): McElya, Micki
